LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Members and Friends,

As we embark on another exciting year in Greene County, I am honored to address you as the Chairman of the Greene County Partnership. Our community has witnessed remarkable growth and resilience, and I am thrilled to share the achievements and opportunities that lie ahead in 2024.

Over the past year, our local businesses have demonstrated incredible adaptability and commitment, contributing to the overall prosperity of our vibrant community. The Greene County Partnership remains dedicated to supporting and promoting the interests of our members, and we are eager to see your businesses flourish in the coming year.

The 2024 Membership Directory serves as a valuable resource, connecting businesses and fostering collaboration within our community. It highlights the diverse range of services and products offered by our members, creating a network that strengthens the local economy.

I encourage each of you to actively participate in the many Chamber events, networking opportunities, and committees throughout the year. Your engagement is vital to the continued success of our community, and we are here to facilitate connections that will elevate your business to new heights.

In 2024, we are committed to enhancing the Chamber experience for our members. This includes expanding educational resources, hosting impactful events, and advocating for policies that promote a thriving business environment. Your feedback and input are invaluable as we work together to shape the future of Greeneville.

Thank you for your continued support and commitment to the Greene County Partnership. I am eager to witness the collective achievements and growth that will define our community in 2024.

With Sincere Gratitude,

John Loven

Board Chair
Greene County Partnership

Fall in love with Greeneville in Greene County, Tennessee, where legends are born and made, and your adventure awaits...

WELCOME

A rustic barn adorned with the American flag stands proudly off Buckingham Road in Greene County.

*W*elcome to Greene County, Tennessee—where the charm of the Appalachian foothills meets a community rich in natural beauty, warm hospitality, and a tapestry of outdoor adventures.

Nestled in the heart of East Tennessee, Greene County is more than just a place; it's a home filled with resiliency, pride, and a vision for the future. Our community values its history, blending historic charm with a commitment to providing excellent education and an exceptional living experience.

Established in 1783, Greeneville, the second oldest town in the state, proudly boasts a fascinating history that draws in thousands of visitors each year. Explore the homes and artifacts of Andrew Johnson, a local tailor turned the 17th President of the United States, or journey through David Crockett Birthplace State Park to discover the life of the legendary wilderness trailblazer and Tennessee congressman.

At the heart of our growth and development is the collaboration between city and county governments, working hand in hand with the Greene County Partnership to forge new opportunities.

Whether you're a longtime resident or a newcomer, Greene County welcomes you to experience the unique blend of tradition and progress that defines our community. Enjoy the scenic landscapes, engage in community events, and become a part of the warm tapestry that is Greene County.

Thank you for being a part of our community, and we look forward to creating lasting memories together in Greene County.

Greene County welcomes you!

Current USS Greeneville Inc. President Dale Long said the mural will help keep the submarine tied to the local community for years to come.

USS GREENEVILLE MURAL UNVEILING

An unveiling ceremony was held on April 3, 2023, for a mural depicting the USS Greeneville, a Los Angeles-class nuclear-powered attack submarine named after the town, attracted a large crowd to the Greene County Partnership's parking lot. Local artist Joe Kilday crafted the mural, marking the 13th addition to downtown Greenville's mural trail and the eighth completed by Kilday. Measuring 9 feet tall and 40 feet wide, the mural portrays the USS Greeneville submarine alongside badges bearing its motto, “Volunteers Defending Frontiers.” Named after Greenville, Tennessee, the USS Greeneville’s history was recounted during the ceremony, with former and current USS Greeneville Inc. board members reflecting on the collaborative effort that led to its naming in 1989. Mayor Kevin Morrison and Mayor Cal Doty emphasized the mural’s role in uniting the city and county, echoing sentiments shared by former USS Greeneville board member Gregg Jones. Emotional highlights included the reading of a supportive letter from retired Rear Admiral Francis McCorkle and the mention of the “Dirty Dozen”, a local delegation that successfully lobbied for the submarine’s name. Wayne Bettis and Kilday expressed pride in the positive impact of the mural, symbolizing unity. Current USS Greeneville Commander Robert Lane, present with three sailors, conveyed gratitude for the community’s support. The mural, funded by the Tennessee Arts Commission and completed by the Greene County Partnership, is poised to endure as a lasting connection between the USS Greeneville and its namesake community.

The USS Greeneville mural was brought to life by local artist Joe Kilday.

CHASAN, LLC INDUSTRIAL COMPLEX

CHASAN, LLC Industrial Complex is located in Greeneville, within 30 miles of Interstates I-81, I-40, and I-26 and 75 miles of I-75; and is within 600 miles of 75% of the U.S. population. As a result, CHASAN's properties are ideal for distribution or manufacturing. It is also within minutes of Pigeon Forge (and Dollywood), Gatlinburg, the Smoky Mountain National Park, seven TVA lakes and reservoirs.

CHASAN has more than 1,100,000 square feet of "food grade capable" space under one roof, as well as an additional 900,000 square feet of warehousing/distribution facilities in Greeneville. Currently the company has more than 18 tenants occupying CHASAN facilities. These tenants provide employment for more than 600 people. The company has additional space available and is poised to build additional square footage on the facility's 200-plus acres as the need arises. CHASAN can provide clients space to fit their specifications.

Services include warehousing and manufacturing space leasing, as well as full-service warehousing, logistics, flat bed and box trucking services, a rail spur siding, cross docking, trailer and container drop lots; repackaging; freight consolidation; LIFO/FIFO inventory controls; pallet wrapping; and product assembly. ## SUMMERS-TAYLOR

Construction teams from Summers-Taylor are busy pouring sidewalks along Depot Street.

Summers-Taylor is the largest heavy civil and Industrial site contractor in East Tennessee. Founded in 1932, they are now in their 4th generation of family leadership and currently hold the 2nd oldest contracting license of any firm in Tennessee. Quality is the number one priority in all of their endeavors. Family culture is important to them, and their dedicated workforce of over 500 employees is their greatest asset. Their highly experienced management team has deep ties to Greene County, and they maintain a construction office and shop there today. They have the most skilled operators and supervisors in the region. This allows them to undertake the largest and most challenging projects with confidence.

The breadth of their capabilities allows them to truly be a turn-key contractor for a site development project. They are able to begin with the clearing and erosion control, and to perform every aspect of site construction through final paving. They have the largest grading and trucking fleets in the region and also have experience in underground utilities (water, sewer, and gas), storm-water management, flatwork and decorative concrete, bridge construction, and asphalt and concrete paving. Their dedication to exceptional asphalt paving has made them the most awarded paving company in East Tennessee, with numerous quality awards from both state DOT departments and national trade organizations.

The company operates 4 asphalt plants and 11 concrete plants. They have concrete batch plants in Greeneville, Morristown, Johnson City, and other locations in East TN. and are supported by a fleet of over forty-five front discharge mixer trucks, and a dedicated quality control team. If an onsite batch plant is preferred, Summers Taylor has two portable plants. An onsite plant would reduce transportation costs, ensure quality-controlled concrete, and allow flexible production schedules.

Their experience in industrial and commercial site development is extensive. They performed much of the site work and paving for many of the industrial sites in Greene County. They are intimately familiar with the soil conditions and topography in Greeneville and surrounding areas. Elsewhere nearby in East Tennessee, they have performed site work on manufacturing and recycling plants at Colortech, Rich's Foods, JTEKT Automotive, THEM Nitrogen and DTR Tennessee, to name a few. They are the exclusive site contractor for John Deere Power Products, a 700,000+ sf manufacturing plant.

Summers-Taylor has considerable experience working with industrial clients from the beginning, conceptual phases of a project all the way through completion. They utilize the most advanced bidding and 3-D modeling software, which allows them to provide accurate cost estimates for industrial clients. Summers-Taylor has been part of project development teams on a number of projects to deliver highly complex and challenging Industrial projects in the quickest timeline possible. This includes teaming on John Deere Plant Expansion, Tacoma Medical Complex, DTR Tennessee, and many more. They are very comfortable functioning as a primary interface between the owner, general contractor, local building departments, and state regulatory agencies. Their work experience makes them uniquely able to work through potential issues before they can negatively impact project schedules and make sure that they can achieve their project completion dates, no matter what.

Summers-Taylor understands that it is important for owners to have construction partners they can trust. They have extensive experience working in controlled access and security clearance environments. They are a preferred contractor at security sensitive locations such as Eastman Chemical, Nuclear Fuel Services, BAE Systems, and Holston Defense Co. Summers-Taylor's employees regularly undergo background checks, safety and security training, and drug screening to work on these projects and they are proud of their ability to efficiently work in these demanding environments.

GREENEVILLE ENERGY AUTHORITY (GLPS)

The Greenville Energy Authority, formerly known as Greenville Light and Power Service, plays a vital role in the community by purchasing electricity at wholesale prices from the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). They then distribute this electricity to residential, commercial, and industrial customers within their service area, encompassing Greenville and Greene County. But that's not all - GEA has expanded its services to include broadband internet. This brand-new high-speed internet service is already available in parts of Greenville City and is on track to become accessible to all residents in Greene County. Following the city's build-out completion, GEA will initiate the expansion into the county. With a rich history of serving the community since 1945, GEA continues to be a trusted source for your energy and now internet needs. For more information about the wide range of services offered by GEA, you can contact them at 423-636-6200 or visit their website at www.mygea.net.

Making the Connection!

When it comes to powering your home and staying connected, Greenville Energy Authority (GEA) is your local go-to source. For decades, we've been proud to serve our community, providing reliable electricity and now lightning-fast broadband internet. Thank you for choosing GEA, your trusted connection to a brighter future.

ERMCO COMPONENTS INC.

ERMCO Components employees and management team celebrated the one-year milestone since acquiring the former B.T.L. Industries with a ribbon-cutting ceremony.

SETTING THE STANDARD. ERMCO Components Inc. was formed after the purchase of GE Distribution Transformer Components by ERMCO in Dyersburg, Tennessee in December, 1998. In October 2022 ERMCO Components, Inc. (ECI) bought out BTL Industries. Already a leading manufacturer of electrical distribution components, ECI continues to grow incorporating ERMCO standards for manufacturing quality products and excellent service into the components industry.

In approximately 55,000 square feet of manufacturing facility located at 1607 Industrial Road in Greeneville, Tennessee, ECI specializes in transformer components. ECI is the only manufacturer of oil immersed secondary circuit breakers made in the United States.

Our 103 employees are essential to our success and we are looking for more exceptional people to join our team. Learn more about us on www.ermco-eci.com or follow us on Facebook.

GREENEVILLE OIL COMPANY, INC.

Greeneville Oil Company, Inc., was organized in 1954, handling Pan-Am products. Its original headquarters was at the corner of Summer and Floral streets in Greeneville, near the site of the former Rhea Floral Company. With the merger of Pan-Am Oil Company and the American Oil Company, the company became the distributors of Amoco products. Starting with one delivery truck, the company grew dramatically as years went by.

Today, the company is called Greeneville Oil & Petroleum and is the leading multi-branded wholesale and retail distributor of petroleum products in Northeast Tennessee and Southwest Virginia. Owned in earlier years by Fred Myers and L.E. Kilday, the present-day company has since the mid-1990s been owned by Allen Johnson, a well-known NHRA driver until his recent retirement from racing.

Greeneville Oil today operates 38 Quick Stop Market convenience stores and three Lube X-Press oil change facilities. Quality Marathon fuels are offered at our convenience stores, along with fuels for home heating, farm use, and commercial applications. Greeneville Oil & Petroleum also provides high-quality commercial lubricants. It is headquartered at 860 W Andrew Johnson Hwy. in Greeneville.

The floor of the local Parker-Hannifin plant buzzes with some of the roughly 600 employees who work at the facility.

PARKER

Parker acquired the former TRW manufacturing facility here in 1993 for its Pump & Motor Division, which produces customer-designed components for the turf, agriculture and construction markets. The Pump & Motor Division is a world leader in the manufacture of orbit-type low-speed, high-torque hydraulic motors. The legendary Torqmotor™ has been delivering on its promise of smooth low-speed operation and rugged dependability since 1964. Their LSHT motor offering is rounded out by the unique Nichols line of compact, straight shaft motors. Features include stainless steel shafts and thru-shafts for brake or encoder mounting.

When used in concert with their hydraulic motors, their axial piston, closed-center transmission pumps form highly efficient, cost-effective propulsion systems for vehicles up to 2,000 pounds or more. Off-highway steering systems and high-speed gerotor motors are offered as well. Administration, engineering, marketing and manufacturing are in their 250,000 square-foot facility in Greeneville. Their vertically-integrated plant contains its own heat treat furnaces and a fully-equipped metallurgical to ensure the highest quality.

Thank you Greene County

THE GREENEVILLE SUN

The Greenville Sun is Greenville and Greene County's daily newspaper. It is a combination of what had originally been three weekly newspapers: The Democrat, The Searchlight, and The Greenville Sun. The earliest of the three was The Democrat, which dates to 1879.

On September 1, 2016, when the Sun, its sister newspapers, and the other components of parent company Jones Media, Inc., were sold to another family-owned newspaper company, Adams Publishing Group, the Sun itself was in its fourth generation and one-hundredth year of ownership and management by the Susong-O'Keefe-Jones family.

Mrs. Edith O'Keefe Susong acquired The Democrat in 1916. By 1921 she was able to buy The Searchlight and The Greenville Sun, consolidate them, and move to daily publication as The Greenville Democrat-Sun.

The name of the paper evolved slightly over the next decade. Thus, Mrs. Susong served as publisher of The Greenville Democrat from 1916 to 1920, as publisher of The Greenville Democrat-Sun from 1920 to 1930, and as publisher of The Greenville Sun from 1930 until her death in 1974, at age 84. She was always a very active force in the community.

Her mother, Quincy Marshall O'Keefe, became the editor (in effect, the editorial page editor) of The Greenville Democrat-Sun/ The Greenville Sun in 1920, and continued in that role until the mid-1950s. Mrs. O'Keefe was widely admired for her editorials and personal columns.

In 1940, Mrs. Susong's daughter, Arne Jones, married John M. Jones, III, of Sweetwater, Tenn. After serving in World War II, Mr. Jones returned to Tennessee in late 1945 and agreed to help his mother-in-law with the Sun on a trial basis, although he had no previous newspaper background. He discovered that he loved newspapering, and he and his wife soon became substantially equal partners with Mrs. Susong in the business. Following Edith Susong's death in 1974, Jones became publisher of The Greenville Sun, and remained so until his death at age 101 in July 2016. It had been only a few months less than 71 years since he entered the newspaper business. Jones led The Greenville Sun and its sister media related companies through significant growth for several decades, ultimately becoming Jones Media, Inc. (JMI). He served as JMI's president until 2001, when he was succeeded in that position by one of his three sons, the Sun Co-Publisher Gregg K. Jones.

What used to be Jones Media,

Inc. is now part of Adams Publishing Group-Tennessee/North Carolina/Virginia, and is a broadly-integrated media company. Gregg Jones, who succeeded his father as Sun publisher after John M. Jones' death, also served as Executive Vice President of Adams Publishing Group's other operations and its more than 2,500 Associates throughout the United States until December 31, 2020.

With currently more than 250 associates, APG TN/NC/VA publishes 7 daily newspapers, 19 non-daily newspapers, and over 25 magazines. It also owns and operates a large tourism-oriented publications company that serves the Southeastern United States, along with several significant commercial web-printing facilities.

APG TN/NC/VA also operates hundreds of websites, and has a full-service marketing solutions firm — The High Road Agency — dedicated to targeting effectively its domestic and international clients'/partners' messages using any medium, including digital, anywhere in the United States.

LIVABILITY

Greene County's diverse topography offers a wide variety of settings for homeowners – from its downtown bustling streets and avenues to its peaceful rural rolling hills and meadows framed by the surrounding mountains.

Prospective homeowners facing one of the most important decisions in their lives have a vast selection of settings and styles from which to choose. Whether one's taste trends toward well-planned subdivisions in closer proximity to the business areas or to secluded serene locations amid mountain surroundings, the choices are there.

Location is usually a first consideration in the decision-making process and Greene County has numerous and varied subdivisions to entice prospective buyers. For those with more acreage in mind, the county is rich in property that is available through private owners and land developers.

Greeneville's largest housing project to date is a subdivision off North Rufe Taylor Road. The developer is D.R. Horton.

In addition to Greeneville, three municipalities are located within Greene County, Baileyton, Mosheim and Tusculum.

Located at the foot of the mountains adjacent to Interstate 81, Baileyton is a small town with a population of 452 residents. Settled in the late 1700s under the name of Laurel Gap, the community is known for its quiet, peaceful community life. Most of the local activities are focused on family participation, from church league softball to scouting.

The town has two full-time and two part-time policemen. It also has United Volunteer Fire Department housed in the center of town, and an Emergency Medical Service substation that is staffed 24 hours a day. The town has a medical clinic, bank, campgrounds, restaurants and many other small businesses.

Baileyton Elementary School is located in the heart of the town and serves as the center of many town activities. Built in the 1930s by the community, it has undergone many renovations and updates throughout the years. Baileyton is home to North Greene High School.

The Baileyton Community Chest, chartered in 1952, is a community organization that includes representatives from Baileyton and many small communities surrounding Baileyton. The Community Chest is supported through donations from area churches and individuals and assists families and individuals in time of need. Events held each year in Baileyton include the annual Baileyton Days in September.

Mosheim was settled in the late 1700s under the name of Blue Springs. The name Mosheim is derived from the Lutheran theologian Von Mosheim, namesake of an early educational facility in the community.

With a population of 2,794, Mosheim is a family-oriented town with several restaurants, motels and small businesses. The town has two full-time and seven part-time policemen that patrol regularly. Mosheim also has a fire department and a volunteer fire department that responds to calls outside the town. Mosheim is home to West Greene High School, Mosheim Middle School and Mosheim Elementary School, as well as an Emergency Medical Services substation and a large grocery store.

The town has two public parks. The Anna Sue Ward Memorial Children's Park, owned by Mosheim Central Church, provides a playground complete with equipment for children and a picnic area, and the Mosheim Municipal Park has a walking track, tennis and basketball courts and picnic facilities. The town also has the Mosheim Public Library, which is housed in a 3,300-square-foot facility at 730 Main Street in Mosheim.

Mosheim holds their annual Mosheim Fun Days the first Saturday in June.

Tusculum is a picturesque small town with small retail-type businesses and restaurants. It is the home of Tusculum University, Chuckey-Doak High School, Chuckey-Doak Middle School, and Doak Elementary School.

LIVABILITY

The town has two full-time police officers and eight part-time/auxiliary officers that patrol all streets regularly, as well as a volunteer fire department.

With a population of 2,730, the city has a mayor, commissioner-city manager form of government. Many cultural and athletic activities are sponsored by Tusculum University, Chuckey-Doak High School, Chuckey-Doak Middle School and Doak Elementary School, most of which are open to the public.

Tusculum Family Park is available for walking, picnics, horseshoe pitching and there is a playground equipped for the handicapped. Tusculum Walking and Biking Trail, beginning at the family park, provides more than 8 miles of wide walking and biking opportunities. Residents are provided free weekly curbside garbage and leaf pickup and free curbside limited recycling pickup. All streets are paved and lighted.

Records show that the town has one of the lowest crime rates in the state. All city-owned properties and rights-of-way, as well as the family park, are mowed regularly and maintained.

Greenville Community Hospital

Healthcare needs for the community are met by medical facilities staffed by more than 100 physicians in a variety of specialties, state-operated homes for individuals with developmental disabilities, several nursing homes, assisted living facilities and numerous other health-related businesses.

Ballad Health, a family of 21 hospitals regionally, operates Greenville Community Hospital.

Greenville Municipal Airport is a home base for a medical-evacuation helicopter, enabling the hospital and Wings Air Rescue work to cover points within 125 miles of Greenville.

Health services are enhanced by Greene County's close proximity to major medical centers in Knoxville and the Tri-Cities area. Veterans in the area have close access to the James H. Quillen Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Johnson City, which provides tertiary medical care, surgery and psychiatric services for veterans in surrounding states.

Greenville Community Hospital, located at 1420 Tusculum Blvd., is an acute inpatient facility with a wide variety of services including cardiology services, women's services such as obstetrics and imaging, an inpatient care unit and surgery.

Greenville Community Hospital

has a rich history of delivering excellent patient care. Our patients can take comfort in knowing they will receive the highest quality medical services with the latest technologies, served by caring, familiar faces.

We are proud to be a part of the Greene County community, and our top priority is always to provide the best care to our patients. Ballad Health also offers an Urgent Care in Greenville with no appointment required. You can receive quick care today – even after hours – from Ballad Health Medical Associates Urgent Care, located at 1744 E. Andrew Johnson Highway.

Life Care Center of Greenville offers professional post-acute care for patients who need specialized medical services, including medical rehabilitation, infusion therapy, and wound care services. Life Care Center of Greenville designs customized programs for patients while keeping their current health considerations in mind. Services include short-term, outpatient and post-surgical rehabilitation, using physical, occupational, and speech therapy up to seven days per week. Our therapy program is designed to get patients moving and back to the life they had before their injury or illness. Inside the facility, spacious private and semiprivate rooms are tastefully decorated and located in a dedicated post-acute and rehabilitation unit.

Qualified nurses and certified nursing assistants help guide the patients through their daily care plan. Social Services help patients and their family or caregivers set up a smooth transition to home, even completing a home evaluation with a member of the therapy team before the patient is discharged.

Dr. Deepika Tumkur, a licensed physician knowledgeable in post-acute and rehabilitation care, supports and guides the interdisciplinary team. A licensed nursing team offers 24-hour skilled nursing care and provides close medical supervision often required following an acute hospital stay. It is the patient's choice where they continue their post-acute care and rehabilitation.

Life Care Center of Greenville associates are professionally trained and dedicated to providing top-quality care. Most importantly, there is a commitment to service that ensures each resident's needs are given the highest priority. It is the mission of Life Care Center of Greenville to be the premier provider of the services they deliver in this community. Life Care was honored to make the U.S. News and World Report annual list for 2017-18 for best nursing homes in the country.

The Greene County School System provides quality educational experiences and extra-curricular activities to approximately 6,163 students enrolled in pre-kindergarten through grade 12. Greene County has been a Level 5 school district for TVAAS student growth since 2016. The success of the school system is a direct result of the hard work and dedication of the approximately 535 certified and 405 classified personnel employed by the system. General education services and most of the special education services are delivered through seven elementary schools, four middle schools, four high schools, and an alternative education center. All of the elementary schools enroll pre-kindergarten through grade five, except for Baileyton which serves students through fourth grade. All seven elementary schools have the Save the Children program to support students' academic success. Three of the four middle schools enroll students in grades six through eight, with North Greene Middle School serving grades five through eight. The four high schools have students enrolled in grades nine through twelve. Additional programs located at the Glenwood Educational Center include Academic/Behavior

Greene County has several programs and resources to meet the needs of at-risk students. They include TN All Corps tutoring, ESSER tutoring, Niswonger Project On-Track tutoring, Save the Children Early Steps programs, parent involvement training programs, Save the Children in-school and after school tutoring programs, high school extended tutoring programs, Pre-K partnership with Head Start, Academic Behavior Intervention Center, programs for the gifted, ESL services, pre-school programming for three- and four-year olds, School-to-Work vocational rehabilitation, summer learning camps, Save the Children KinderBoost summer programs, and more.

The goal in Greene County is to provide a quality education to ALL students. Teachers and students are working hard to help achieve this goal. They examine various data including i-Ready and CASE benchmark data to identify strengths and weaknesses in order to provide teaches and students with proper support needed for all to succeed. While the Greene County Schools focus on academics, the system is also interested in providing opportunities for children that concentrate on the whole child, including social and emotional needs. All schools are in the process of becoming Trauma Informed Schools. There is an

WE BELIEVE:
 Education is the most important service a community provides for itself.
 All children can learn, and most can learn at very high levels. Skilled teachers and support staff make the difference.
 Strong leaders set the tone.
 Useful data provide direction.
 Safe, clean, appropriate facilities and 21 st century resources are a necessity.
 School, family, and community partnerships strengthen learning.

VISION
 Students in Greene County Schools will develop a joy for learning; graduates from Greene County Schools will be prepared to enter the workforce with an industry certificate, to enroll in a community college with dual credits earned, or to enroll in a four-year college or university with ACT scores that forecast success.
 Furthermore, graduates will be contributing citizens demonstrating responsible, ethical behavior.

emphasis on climate and culture in the schools and building empathy and compassion. The goal of the system is to provide students with the tools they need, not only today in the classroom, but as adults in the future.

In an effort to bolster college and career readiness, Greene County Schools provides the opportunity to take CTE courses at their home schools and at the Greene Technology Center. Students may also enroll in statewide dual credit courses, AP, and dual enrollment courses at Walters State Community College, Tusculum University, and East Tennessee State University. Online courses for high school credit are available through The Niswonger Foundation. All four middle schools have also added a Career Exploration course to allow students to explore careers and spend time focusing on CTE activities prior to entering high school. Each quad has a Career Coach that helps to coach and advise high school students and 8th grade students on their academic path and course selection for success in the future. Greene County also has a district work-based learning coordinator that is helping to build valuable connections between local businesses and the high school and middle school CTE programs and provide opportunities for students at each level to explore career options.

The Greene County College and Career Pathways initiative has been in place for several years now. As a joint project of local business/industry and local educational institutions, five pathways were developed: Business/Finance, Education/Professional Service, Health Care, Manufacturing, and Transportation. Through these pathways, students are able to understand what jobs are available to them in the region with educational attainment ranging from a high school diploma to a professional degree. In addition, a career pathways program for grades six through eight was developed to introduced students to the 16 Tennessee Career Clusters and begin the process of narrowing their choices down to one to develop an academic six-year plan in high school. Students are being given the opportunity to visit local business/industry as well as post-secondary institutions to assist them in setting their educational career goals.

Greene County has developed a strong new teacher and mentor cohort program to support the development and growth of newly hired teachers through their second year of teaching. New teachers are assigned to a school-level and a district-level mentor who works with the teacher throughout the year. Professional learning sessions occur throughout the year to help new teachers strengthen their teaching practices. Mentors are provided with training support as well.

The Greene County Schools are supported by Greene LEAF (Local Educational Advancement Foundation), a foundation that provides funding for several projects and initiatives, including technology enhancements and literacy programs. For more information on how to support the school system, visit www.greenleaf.org.

TUSCULUM UNIVERSITY

For more than two centuries, Tusculum University has equipped students to be career-ready professionals and enhanced Greene County's quality of life and economic health. Dating to 1794, Tusculum is the first higher education institution in Tennessee and the 28th oldest in the nation.

Tusculum offers more than 60 majors and minors. The university also offers multiple master's and associate degrees as well as dual enrollment courses for high school students. Serving students at all stages of life, Tusculum educates in the traditional classroom, virtual settings and completely online formats.

Tusculum is home to Greene County students as well as to Pioneers from other parts of East Tennessee, the state, the nation and the world. The university's reach is enormous, with a recent study revealing the higher education institution's $58.3 million annual economic impact on the region.

"We are proud to be an integral part of Greene County by providing a well-educated workforce for local businesses and offering cultural, spiritual and entertainment opportunities for the community on our campus," said Dr. Scott Hummel, Tusculum's president.

A Tusculum education is affordable. Tennessee students who are eligible for a full Pell Grant and qualify for the HOPE scholarship from the state do not pay for their tuition. Tusculum supports students with abundant resources such as scholarships, grants, loans and work-study programs.

The university partners with businesses in multiple ways. For example, employees of businesses who become a corporate sponsor with Tusculum are eligible for a 10% preferred tuition reduction.

Students engage in active and experiential learning during their Tusculum studies and civic engagement. Biology and chemistry students have participated since 2018 in research to find a new method to treat cancer and have conducted presentations on the subject at conferences and on campus. A group of students in the art and design program worked with their professor to create a custom graphics package for the Ford Mustang in partnership with Lennie Lawson, owner of Gateway Ford and Gateway Nissan in Greeneville. Students and professors in the College of Business as well other Pioneers and community volunteers perform free income tax preparation services for individuals in the region.

As a faith-based institution, Tusculum offers voluntary weekly chapel sessions during the academic year. Campus ministries such as the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Breaking Bread are active, and many churches have adopted Tusculum's athletic teams. A full-time campus minister supports the needs of students, faculty and staff and guides spiritual activities on campus.

Tusculum's arts program has been a major connector between the university and the community. Many community members have joined students and staff members in theater productions, and local artists have held shows on campus. The Tusculum University Community Band and the Tusculum University Community Choir hold regular performances in the Marilyn duBrisk

Theatre of Annie Hogan Byrd Fine Arts Center. Tusculum is also home to the Greeneville Flyboys of the Appalachian League.

"The value and importance of the university cannot be overstated, and the $58 million is probably very understated," said Kevin Morrison, Greene County's mayor. "Tusculum University touches every sector of the community and is a vital spoke in making Greene County so strong. We greatly appreciate Tusculum's contributions to the Greene County economy and are pleased to have the university in our community."

More information about the university is available at www.tusculum.edu. To apply for admission, please visit <https://site.tusculum.edu/apply-visit/apply/>. Tutoring is free at Walters State! Our tutoring assists students in overcoming any academic, social, and cultural barrier to a successful future.

Walters State Community College. Walters State Community College, named by the Tennessee Board of Regents as the state's top community college for the second year in a row in 2023, is proud to serve Greene County and surrounding areas from the Niswonger Campus in Greeneville. The campus' 104,000-square-foot facility has enabled the college to expand existing programs and develop new ones to meet local educational and workforce development needs. About 1,000 students take credit classes and 2,000 take noncredit classes in Greeneville.

The college's primary mission is to offer affordable university transfer and workforce-training programs that meet the educational and economic needs of the community. Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges, Walters State has campus sites in Greeneville, Morristown, Sevierville and Tazewell with a center in Newport.

Walters State offers more than 150 programs of study leading to the associate of science degree, the associate of arts degree, the associate of fine arts, the associate of science in teaching degree, and the associate of applied science degree. Technical and academic certificates are also offered.

Through the Tennessee Promise program, high school graduates can attend Walters State tuition-free, and through the Tennessee Reconnect program, qualified adult students can attend Walters State tuition-free.

The college has received national recognition for its innovative use of technology in the classroom. Walters State has also been named a Military Friendly School and a THEC Vets Campus.

State graduates transfer to four-year universities and colleges. Through the Tennessee Transfer Pathway Program, students who complete an associate's degree from Walters State can transfer seamlessly as juniors to a Tennessee public university and many private universities, including Tusculum.

In addition to university parallel programs, Walters State offers technical education degree and certificate programs that prepare individuals for immediate employment after graduation. The college's overall job placement rate for technical education graduates is 93 percent in programs such as nursing, law enforcement, fire science, engineering technology and management.

Many high school students get a head start on their college education through Walters State's dual enrollment program, where students can earn both college and high school credit for certain courses.

The Niswonger Campus is home to two of the college's premier programs, respiratory care and the East Tennessee Basic Law Enforcement Academy, which trains POST-certified officers from across the state of Tennessee. The campus is also home to the college's occupational therapy assistant program. The college expanded its physical therapist assistant and nursing programs to the Niswonger Campus.

The college's Division of Workforce Training operates the advanced workforce training facility in Greeneville. The welding program provides training that leads to certification sanctioned by the American Welding Society. And the new high-level industrial skills assessment and training program prepares individuals for high-demand, skilled manufacturing jobs.

Other programs offered by the Division of Workforce Training include lean manufacturing, computer applications, electrical, OSHA, TOSHA and CNC. Many soft-skills programs are also offered, including communication, resolving conflict, team building and project management, as well as the signature STAR leadership program. For the health care sector, courses include CNA, phlebotomy and dental assistant.

APPALACHIAN AUDITORIUM AT ST. JAMES

Appalachian Auditorium at St. James is a 501(c)3 organization. All donations/ sponsorships are tax-deductible. Their mission is to bring quality live entertainment to the southern part of Greene County and beyond at a reasonable ticket price of only $15 ($20 at the door) for all shows. The historical property, formerly known as St. James School, was gifted to St. James Lutheran Church for community use. For years, it has housed ministries like Appalachian Helping Hands, Jacob's

Well and many other community outreach projects. Today, the old high school auditorium hosts a variety of quality entertainment acts from all over the country plus right here in our own backyard. Proceeds from ticket sales are used to continue to update the 1936 Auditorium, as well as help support the cost of artist fees, advertising and printing. They also use part of the revenue to offer free tickets to people who are served by the ministries that operate out of the

St. James Community Center, located at 3220 St. James Road, Greeneville, across from St. James Lutheran Church. The Auditorium is nestled in a beautiful valley surrounded by East Tennessee mountains. They encourage visitors to step back in time with them to a picturesque time when families get together for live music and other entertainment on Saturday night! # INFO AND DEMOGRAPHICS

Greene County is within one day's drive of 75% of the U.S. population and is located virtually at the geographic center of the Eastern United States, creating a competitive cost advantage when moving products and people.

Interstate Access to Greenville and Greene County is provided by four interchanges to Interstate 81. Additionally, Interstates 26 and 40 are located within approximately 35 miles and Interstate 75 is within 72 miles. U.S. Highways 11-E, 321, 34, 70, 93 and 107 serve the county.

Greenville Municipal Airport (GCY) is open 24-hours-a-day and offers chartered flights and cargo shipping. Taxi and car rental services, hangar and tie-down storage, major repair and Avgas/Jet A fuel are all available. The airport boasts a 6,300-foot asphalt runway, which is the state's sixth longest. The fixed base operator is Greenville Aviation Services. Website: www.greenvilleaviation.com/

Tri-Cities Regional Airport (TRI) is located just off I-81 in Blountville, 42 miles from Greenville, and serves 450,000 passengers annually. The airport offers non-stop flights to five hubs (Atlanta, Charlotte, Dallas, Orlando, and Tampa/Clearwater-St. Petersburg) with connections to all other cities. Website: www.triflight.com

McGhee Tyson Airport (TYS) serves metropolitan Knoxville and is located 70 miles from Greenville, serving approximately 1.43 million passengers annually. Five major airlines offer non-stop service to 20 major hubs which provide connections to all other cities. Website: www.flyknoxville.com.

Asheville Regional Airport

(AVL) is located just south of Asheville, NC, at exit 40 off I-26 and serves all of Western North Carolina. Amenities include free Wi-Fi, a Business Center, Blue Ridge Trading & Tavern featuring locally-inspired dishes, a Guest Services Center, Art Gallery, and more. The airport offers flights on six commercial airlines to sixteen major hubs. Website: www.flyavl.com

Norfolk-Southern Corporation provides rail service for Greene County and has 830 miles of track in Tennessee. Two boxcar loading stations are located within 30 miles; 22 major hubs provide connections to all other cities. Website: www.nscorp.com.
